Brian is a Director and the Denver market leader of BKD’s Transaction Services group. With more than a decade of experience with mergers and acquisitions, he provides buy-side and sell-side financial due diligence services to private equity and strategic investors. He has experience across a wide range of industries, including franchising, energy and energy services, business services, manufacturing and distribution, SaaS-based tech enabled services, home health, waste management, automotive, telecommunications, retail, and consumer products.

Brian has led or participated in more than 300 transactions and focuses on determining acquisition targets' quality of earnings and working capital requirements through analysis of financial statements and discussions with key management personnel. He reviews purchase and financing agreements to determine propriety of deal structure and the inclusion of applicable diligence findings. He also has completed various carve-out and stand-alone engagements on behalf of strategic sellers and portfolio companies in their divestiture of operating segments.

Prior to joining BKD, Brian was a director with the transaction services practice of an international consulting firm in Chicago and Denver and a senior associate with the transaction services practice of a “Big 4” accounting firm in Chicago. He performed several asset-based lending engagements for top-tier financial institutions in their consideration of borrowing base implications.

Brian is a magna cum laude graduate of The Ohio State University, Columbus, with a bachelor’s degree in business administration with a concentration in accounting and a master’s degree in accounting.
